Railroad LegislationTO PERMIT SALE

"Big Stick" in Open
Threat

Washington, D. C., June 22.—President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds are agreed that the dissolution suit against the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad must go forward unless the Massachusetts legislature empowers the holding company to sell the Boston & Maine stock. The president said that if the legislature acted in line with the suggestions of the attorney general and Governor Walsh the only course left open to the department of justice would be to go ahead with the Sherman law suit which was held up according to an agreement between Chairman Elliott of the New Haven road and Attorney General McReynolds.

Attorney General McReynolds agreed to hold back the government suit until July 15 awaiting the action of the Massachusetts legislature. Last week the legislature referred the bill to the recess committee and delay until after Christmas is threatened. Officials expect to see the suit filed before the expiration of the time limit unless the legislature takes action.

"Religion is commended to you. It means developed manhood, and therefore the highest development for the nation of self-government."

The final vesper service of the year was held yesterday afternoon in Rollins chapel and was led by Rev. Ozora S. Davis, D. D., president of the Chicago Theological seminary, a graduate of Dartmouth, class of 1880.

WROTE DESPONDENT NOTE.

Gertrude White of Burlington Probably Committed Suicide.

Burlington, June 22.—No trace has been found of Miss Gertrude White, who has been employed at A. R. White's soda fountain and who disappeared last Thursday. There is strong evidence at hand that Miss White committed suicide. Friday afternoon her coat and hat were found on the beach near the boat house at Rock Point. In one of the pockets was a note book from which several sheets had been torn. On these sheets she wrote a letter to her relatives which was received the same day the garments mentioned were found. She stated in the letter, from information that has leaked out, that she was living in a troublesome world and that she was having serious thoughts as she looked towards the lake.

From what has been learned of her actions on Thursday the letter was probably written early that evening at Rock Point. She was observed crossing the field in front of Rock Point institute about 8:30 in the evening, walking towards the beach, and her coat and hat were found on the beach Friday about 1:30 o'clock by Fred DeLage. All day Saturday and Sunday was spent by several people in searching for the body. About ten o'clock Saturday morning one of the searchers said he saw the body in the water and the chief of police and health officer were notified. They went to the scene in the police patrol car, but it was found that the man had been mistaken.

Miss White was a young woman 29 years of age, and a daughter of Lucius White of South Burlington. She has worked for the White store some little time. It is known that she had a love affair some time ago and recently she learned that the man with whom she was in love was married to another girl, since that time her employer, Mr. White, says she has not been the same girl. She was given to frequent fits of despondency and was often observed to be in tears. She would never give any explanation of these moods.

Thursday, of last week she was feeling badly and told Mr. White that she had trouble with one of the clerks and she was going to get through. He told her to not mind and to go back to work. She went to her rooming place the afternoon, changed her clothes to a white dress and went away, it being understood that she was going to a dance at Queen City park. That was the last heard of her except that she was observed going through the field to the lake at Rock Point evidently on her way back to the shore after she had written the letter on the pages torn from the note book.

NOT RESTRICTED TRAINING.

Is Plea of President Thomas of Middlebury College to His Class.

Middlebury, June 22.—The vocationalizing of the state system of education, recommended to Vermont by the Carnegie foundation was denounced yesterday by Pres. John M. Thomas of Middlebury college in his baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class.

"The education which will lift Vermont," he said "is not one which will enable us merely to haul more stuff to market and quarry more marble and granite. Vermont has been great for her men and the education of full grown manhood will alone satisfy the Vermont spirit."

"The children of the farms must learn from the masters of great thoughts. They must be taught their kinship with the heroes of great deeds. They must be trained to value truth in the realm of science, not for its bearing on crops and trade, but for its pure beauty alone."

"A materialized tuition would disappoint us in our search for wealth. It would remove us from the glory of our past and blast the hopes of our future."

"The state's chief concern is that through you some truth shall shine in a clear light; some work shall be done with a more faithful hand; some business shall be managed with a finer justice; some profession shall be followed with a more disinterested devotion; some person shall be loved with a pure affection; some sphere of God's righteousness shall be served with a higher consecration."

LONG ILL WITH TUBERCULOSIS.

Dennis J. Sweeney, Montpelier Granite Manufacturer, Died Sunday.

Dennis J. Sweeney, aged 48 years, died at his home in Montpelier yesterday after a three years' struggle against tuberculosis. Mr. Sweeney, who was a granite manufacturer, went to the sanatorium at Pittsford a year or more ago for treatment and later to Arizona, where he lived in a tent for eight months, returning to Montpelier last May. Since that time he has steadily failed.

Mr. Sweeney was born in Northfield, September 22, 1866, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sweeney. It was in the public schools of that town that he gained his education and then, with his brother, Edward A. Sweeney, bought the Wetmore & Morse granite shed at Montpelier and was for many years a prosperous granite man. He was married in 1893 to Margaret Gannon of Winoski and to them were born nine children, all living except one, as follows: Florence, John H., Walter, Madeline, Francis, Margery, Robert and Howard. Besides the wife and children, Mr. Sweeney survived by his mother, Mrs. Jerry McCormick of Montpelier; a brother, Edward A., of Los Angeles, Cal.; a sister, Mrs. Henry Doucette of Barre; two half-brothers, A. J. and Fred McCormick of Montpelier; a half-sister, Mrs. Harry Dale of Montpelier.

The funeral will be to-morrow morning, with interment in the Catholic cemetery.

TWO WOMEN INJURED

When Automobiles Going in Same Direction Collided.

Nashua, N. H., June 22.—Two women were seriously injured in an automobile collision on the Lowell road last night. Mrs. Mowatt of 76 Haverhill street, Lawrence, Mass., is believed to have received internal injuries and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Mowatt, had an arm broken.

JUMPED FOR THEIR LIVES.

Engineer and Fireman Driven from Cab by Fire.

Manchester, N. H., June 22.—A fire which broke out in the cab of the engine attached to the Canadian express leaving Boston at 9 o'clock this morning caused the engineer and the fireman to jump for their lives in the railroad yard after applying the air brakes with a jar that tossed the passengers about. The fire caused a tieup for an hour.

FAMOUS RAILROAD BUILDER

Morgan Bransby Williams is Dead in London.

London, June 22.—Morgan Bransby Williams, who probably had more to do with the construction of the earlier railroads in the British Isles than any other man, died to-day. He planned and built many Italian railways, as well as thousands of miles of Russian lines.

JURY WAS SECURED.

For Trial of Recaredo Gomez in Orange County Court.

Chelsea, June 22.—The trial of state vs. Recaredo Gomez, charged with assault with intent to kill E. Fernandez at Williamstown, was resumed when Orange county court took up its work again this afternoon. The respondent had entered a plea of not guilty when the case was called Friday afternoon, after which the entire afternoon was spent in drawing a jury. The jury was selected and Saturday the court took a recess till this afternoon. Twenty-one talemans were called before a jury satisfactory to both sides were selected. The remainder of the panel were excused for the term.

Several criminals cases have been taken up in court as follows:

State vs. Police Druggie, in which an information was filed charging the respondent with selling intoxicating liquor contrary to law. The respondent entered a plea of not guilty but after a lengthy trial the jury viewed the case in a different light and rendered a verdict of guilty. Sentence had not yet been imposed. State's attorney William prosecuted and the respondent was defended by D. C. Conant and S. C. Wilson.

State vs. William Roberts. In this case the state informed against the respondent who resides in Bradford, charging him with having committed the crime of adultery and the respondent pleaded not guilty and the jury after a hard struggle were unable to solve the problem and informed the state that the respondent was impossible. They were discharged from further consideration of the case. State's attorney—Williams prosecuted and D. S. Conant defended.

State vs. Solomon Bylow. The respondent is a resident of West Fairlee and the information charged him with having committed the crime of burglary but the evidence produced by the state was not sufficient to find the charge in an exhibit. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty of the lesser crime of petit larceny and the court imposed a sentence of one hundred dollars and costs of prosecution, which the respondent paid. State's attorney Williams prosecuted and D. S. Conant defended.

State vs. Fred Longchamp. This respondent conducts a small store in "Tough End," the Williamstown end of Granville, and he was informed against for "keeping intoxicating liquors with intent to sell." He entered a plea of not guilty. The evidence disclosed the fact that the officers with a search warrant raided his place of business a short time since and in a store house connected with his place of business, found forty-nine dozen bottles of Jamaica ginger, which they seized, and which the state put before the jury in an exhibit. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty and the case, it is said will go to supreme court on exceptions. State's attorney Williams prosecuted and the respondent was defended by A. A. Sargent of Barre and D. S. Conant.

IS SORRY SPECTACLE.

Fred Wooster Back in House of Correction After Two Months' Freedom.

Rutland, June 22.—After nearly two months of liberty Fred Wooster, who Wednesday night, May 6, escaped from the house of correction in this city, was returned to the institution last night much the worse for wear.

Robert Harrington, who escaped with Wooster, has not been retaken, and Wooster says he is dead in Buffalo, N. Y. A good share of the time since his daring escape along the roof ridge of the house of correction had been spent in Buffalo, according to the boy's story.

He was taken at the home of his father, Fred Wooster, in West Rutland, last night at 7:30 o'clock by Deputy Sheriff P. H. Patten, and returned to the jail by Supt. M. H. Loukes. Neighbors informed Mr. Loukes yesterday afternoon that the escaped prisoner was in town again, and the superintendent immediately got into communication with Deputy Sheriff Patten, who went to the house and arrested the fugitive.

The young man said that after he and Harrington broke into a Poulney creamery and freight car a few nights after the escape they walked into New York state and the next day to Whitehall, N. Y. There they readily caught a freight to Buffalo, where they have been ever since.

Wooster finally got back to Whitehall and walked to his home Saturday, reaching his father's house at four o'clock Sunday morning. He is emaciated, and his hair is long and uncombed. "Roughing it" seems to have no further attraction for him.

The returned prisoner says his accomplice was really the engineer of their escape, when they reached the roof through the cupola and dropped to the ground. Wooster is serving a sentence for arson.

MORE FENCE BURNS

And More Work for the Firemen Is the Result.

The auto fire truck made its semi-occasional trip to the driving park on Ayers street this afternoon at 1:40, having been called there by abutting tenants who discovered a blaze creeping toward their homes by the board fence route. Up near the iron bridge that links Ayers street with the beginnings of Batchelder hill, the fire seems to have had its start. When the firemen arrived the breeze had fanned a gentle blaze into something that required considerable exertion to extinguish. As another section of the familiar figure of the small boy with his matches looms up in the theories that are advanced to account for the origin of the fire. The damage is negligible.

TWO MEN ARE HELD.

Bellows Falls Men Charged with Mislabeling a Product.

Rutland, June 22.—Charged with violating the food and drug act, William P. Abbott and John C. Johnson of Bellows Falls were brought to this city Saturday by Deputy United States Marshal E. S. Whitaker, arraigned before F. S. Platt, clerk of the United States court, and held in $300 bail each. Bail was furnished by S. M. Wilson of Rutland.

Both Mr. Abbott and Mr. Johnson are in the coal business in Bellows Falls, and it is said they also manufacture an insecticide. The government alleges that they were brought to this city on a shipment of this product to a Boston concern and did not properly label the contents of the packages.

Ossining, N. Y., June 22.—Peter Rebacci, the 19-year-old Italian youth who was the tool of a "black hand" murder syndicate in Westchester county, was electrocuted to-day at Sing Sing prison for the murder of Tony Marro of White Plains.

Governor Glynn had granted him a six months' reprieve. Rebacci's confession will be used at the trial of four other members of the syndicate.

The electrocution was conducted by E. R. Currier of Massachusetts. It was the first electrocution in this state that E. F. Davis, the state electrician, who is ill at his home, has supervised. Electrician Davis has executed 111 criminals.

I. P. C. OUTING SATURDAY.

Big Crowd Had Pleasant Day at Kelly's Grove.

The seventh annual outing, the gala event of the summer season for the Italian Pleasure club, occurred Saturday afternoon at Kelly's grove on west hill. Conservative estimates of the attendance placed the number at 300.

The resort on west hill was prepared for the entrance of the merry-makers. Extended across the entrance to the park was strung a large banner with the inscription, "Welcome, Italian Pleasure Club." Scattered through the wooded nooks were benches and swings. A portable pavilion was erected on the grounds and dancing proved a diversion for large numbers of the picnicers. Music was furnished by the Italian Pleasure club orchestra under the supervision of James Walker.

In the forenoon track and field sporting events were held, while the afternoon was devoted to the baseball and football competitions. The annual baseball game was won by the High Wheelers, 2 to 1, over the Lancers. The former team was captained by Delos Merlo, while the Lancers found an efficient leader in Dr. O. E. Barr. For eight innings the Lancers were holding the short end of a 1 to 0 game, but in the ninth they equalized the score when George Troupe hammered out a circuit clout. Then the battle went into extra innings and it was in the twelfth inning when an error by R. Wright enabled the High Wheelers to roll away with the contest. The outstanding feature of the game was the clever pitching of "Jack" Emslie, who struck out sixteen men and allowed but three hits.

In the football competition the Lancers proved triumphant over their brother High Wheelers. The game was a walkaway, 6 to 0. The Lancers scored their six goals in the opening session through the clever and tricky team play of Baker, Stewart, Troupe and E. Prestini. In the last session the Lancers did not exert themselves and held their opponents scoreless.

At noon the guests were seated at improvised banquet tables in one section of the grove. The banquet was served by Anthony Fasola and Joseph Merlo, who were aided in their duties by a bevy of white-aproned waitresses. At the close of the banquet brief exercises were held. A letter from John Frontini, one of the club's officers, of Cincinnati, Ohio, was read, expressing his regret at not being present. The result of the track and field events conducted in the forenoon was as follows: One-hundred-yard dash, won by Geo. Troupe, Leslie Wright 2d, P. Scampini 2d, 220-yard dash, won by Geo. Troupe, O. E. Barr 2d, Leslie Wright 3d; mile run, won by Alex. Emslie, Joseph Giampolini 2d, J. F. Stumpf 3d; broad jump, won by Leslie Wright, Fred Gerbert 2d, A. Fasola 3d; hammer throw, Jas. McDonald 1st, Kimo Maggiani 2d, W. B. Marriion 3d; high hurdles (120 yards), won by George Troupe, A. C. Jones 2d, L. Wright 3d; P. Scampini 4th.

BACCALAUREATE AT NORWICH

Was Followed by Band Concert, Guard Mount and Evening Parade.

Northfield, June 22.—Commencement week opened at Norwich university yesterday afternoon, when Dean Lee S. McColester, D. D., of the Tufts Divinity school gave the baccalaureate sermon in the chapel. Dean McColester was presented by President Spooner, after which the order of service was as follows: Selection by quartet; prayer; hymn, "Bring, O Morn, Thy Music"; reading, chapter XX. Acts of the Apostles; hymn, "Come, Thou Almighty King"; sermon; hymn, "Oh, Sometimes Gleams Upon Our Sight"; prayer and benediction; color salute.

Dean McColester is the son of one of the old graduates of Norwich and for this reason has a more than usual interest in the university. A band concert was given by the Norwich band at 4 o'clock, after which guard mount was held, followed by evening parade.

He was born in Woodstock in 1870 and has been active in the councils of the Democratic party. He will assume his new position July 1.

MANY FEATURES AT PICNIC.

Of Hearts of Oak Lodge, Sons of W. George, at Caledonia.

Hearts of Oak lodge, No. 4477, Sons of St. George, held its eighth annual outing and picnic at Caledonia park on Saturday afternoon. The picnicers fared forth toward the outing park early in the forenoon, despite the unpropitious weather conditions. During the early part of the afternoon there were assembled on the grounds about 150. The grounds were especially equipped with amusement devices for the outing and many Cornish novelties constructed through the park lent British atmosphere to the outing.

Sporting events occupied considerable match team B, represented by Mrs. Thomas Venner and Mrs. Charles Olliver, triumphed over the runner-up, team T, represented by Mrs. John Angwin and Mrs. William Fradd, in the elimination series. The fair sex were again conspicuous during the day in the annual tug-of-war event. Teams were captained and guided by Nicholas Veale and John Angwin but their personnel was comprised of the gentler sex. The event was easily captured by the Veale team.

Shortly after the arrival of the noon train the annual baseball contest was staged, the Bodmin Roads defeating the Lizards in a very interesting and exciting game by the score of 10 to 4. The up-country team proved a sturdy crew of players and outclassed the Lizards in every phase of the game. The outstanding feature of the game was the playing of Edwin Keast, the former Rhode Island Central player, who secured three hits and steered the Bodmin Roads to victory by his masterful pitching. One of the hits executed by Keast was a four-ply wallop that sailed clear of the center field precipice with the stations occupied. The hit came during the early innings and brought his team into the lead. During the opening inning Charles Olliver was twirling for the Bodmin Roads. He was hit hard and was retired in favor of Keast, who held his opponents scoreless during the remainder of the game. Keast allowed but three hits and fanned eleven batters. Venner acted as catcher for the winning team. Jones twirled for the Lizards with "Tom" Nichols behind the bat.

Refreshments were served at the picnic and a basket dinner was served at the roadside. The committee in charge of the outing consisted of John Bishop, Edwin Keast, William Olliver, Charles Olliver and Sidney Kild.

FORTIUE—BADGER.

Wedding at Church Followed by Reception at Bride's Home.

A quiet wedding was celebrated at St. Monica's church this forenoon at 9 o'clock when Miss Alvina Badger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Badger of 117 Brooklyn street, was united in marriage to Charles Fortiue, Rev. P. J. McKenna performing the ceremony. Only the immediate members of the families and intimate friends of the bride and groom were present while the wedding was being solemnized. The bride was attended by Miss Ella Budreau, and Fred W. Herbert acted as groomsmen. Shadow lace over white silk figured becomingly in the texture of the bride's gown. She wore a bride's veil trimmed with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Budreau wore a gown of shadow lace over ivory satin. She carried white sweet peas.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party went to the home of the bride's parents, where an informal reception in honor of the couple was followed at noon by a wedding dinner. The dining room was attractively arranged in pink and white, as was the living room, where the reception was held. Crepe paper and wild roses were used with charming effect. Nearly all guests, including a number of the bride's friends, were invited to the dinner. Two young women friends of the bride, Miss Mamie Minnie and Mrs. Joseph Beaulieu, did the serving. They were attired in pink and white.

The bride is one of the most popular young women in the circle in which she moves and has many friends in Barre and outside towns. She has always made her home here. Mr. Fortiue came to Barre from Pleasantville, P. Q., his native town, three years ago and has been employed for some little time as a stonecutter by Larochelle & Desmarreux. The couple were the recipients of a large number of practical presents, a list of which includes gold, china, linen, silverware, cut glass and furniture. Mr. and Mrs. Fortiue will leave late this afternoon on a month's bridal tour through lower Quebec. On their return they will make their home on Cottage street.

RILEY—KNOX.

Well Known Young People United in Marriage.

A quiet June wedding took place at St. Monica's church this morning when Martin Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Riley of 21 East street, was united in marriage to Miss Mary Knox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knox of Beacon street. Rev. P. J. McKenna, pastor of St. Monica's church, officiated at the nuptial mass. There were only friends and relatives of the couple present at the wedding. Mrs. Clarence Foley, a sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid and Clarence E. Foley was best man. The bride was attractively dressed in a suit of blue with hat to match. The bridesmaid was dressed in gray.

After the wedding the couple repaired to the home of the bride's parents on Beacon street, where a nuptial breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Riley left by automobile for points in the eastern part of the state this forenoon. They will pass the coming two weeks at points in Maine and New York states.

The couple are prominently known in Barre and vicinity. Mr. Riley, who graduated from Spaulding high school in 1906, is connected with the Canton Bros. Granite company as head draughtsman and bookkeeper. The bride has a large circle of acquaintances in Barre. For the past two years she has been employed in a clerical capacity with the Stevens-Duryea automobile concern. After July 7, Mr. and Mrs. Riley will make their residence at 21 East street. They were the recipients of many handsome presents from the friends, including cut glass, silverware, jewelry, linen, etc.

BACK FROM CHICAGO CONVENTION.

Mrs. W. F. Shepard Returned to Barre Sunday Morning.

A part of the Vermont delegation that attended the annual convention of the national federation of women's clubs in Chicago has returned to this state but of the three Barre women who represented the Barre Women's club, Mrs. W. F. Shepard alone has returned. Mrs. Shepard arrived in the city on Sunday morning after having been accompanied from Chicago by a returning delegation from Nashua and Concord, N. H. Mrs. Henry J. Smith of Maple avenue, who was one of the delegates, will remain with friends in Chicago for a few weeks, and Mrs. N. D. Phelps of Park street has gone to Fargo, N. D., for an extended visit. Mrs. George Smilie of Montpelier and Mrs. C. A. Best and Mrs. Ella B. Bailey, also of the capital, will remain in Chicago for a visit, after having attended the convention sessions.

While in Chicago, the Vermont delegates, in common with hundreds of other women from all parts of the United States were royally entertained. There were 1,828 women registered in all and at most of the meetings the auditorium was packed to the doors. A good deal of interest that centers in Chicago on the woman suffrage question has spread throughout the country and it may be interesting to note the attitude taken at that momentous issue by the local delegates. It will be recalled that opposition to the extension of the franchise to women was lost in a maelstrom of votes. Mrs. Phelps and Mrs. Smith are said to have opposed the measure, while Mrs. Shepard voted with the wing that endorsed the equal franchise. Elsewhere in Vermont the sentiment among the delegates is said to have been pretty well divided. Barely a day elapsed from the time the suffrage question was briefly mentioned until it was put to vote before the convention for endorsement. Eye witnesses of the scene say that enthusiasm for the suffrage fairly swept the convention from its feet. What opposition was voiced had no effect whatever on the tide of the vote, all on sentiment that engulfed the auditorium. Mrs. Smith had part in this consummation, for a visitor at the convention observes that apparently every man who was honored with a seat in the convention favored equal rights at the polls.

Pro-suffrage delegates as well as antagonists of the movement were given an opportunity to see the workings of the ballot when the time came to vote for the national officers. Voting machines were used and the vote was given that freedom of the polls that the majority at Chicago seemed so earnestly to desire. Barre delegates had once, twice and three times the privilege of meeting Jan Addams at Hull House. There they were dined and shown about the wonderful institution that has been created by the personality of Miss Addams.
